Play & Park Structures believes that play is a critical aspect of a child's growth and development:

Play promotes creativity and imagination, socialization skills, language, coping strategies, fine and gross motor skills, and understanding through multisensory experiences.

The Outdoor Creative Play and Learning standards-based playground activities can be used with your new or existing outdoor play and learning environment. The activities are not designed to replace children's free play, but help provide fun and exciting opportunities to reinforce key content areas such as language arts, science, mathematics, physical education and health, social studies, early childhood, and creative arts. Your outdoor play space is the perfect place for dynamic, active, and creative play. Nurture the imaginations of children using the playground activities in the Outdoor Creative Play and Learning curriculum to offer meaningful experiences and healthy child development.
